Headmaster's Address

What makes a great yearbook?

When the eagerly awaited copies of Voyages 2003 land in our school in the Fall of this year and, from there into our students' hands, what will we see and, how will we react to what we are seeing? Will Voyages 2003 be a great yearbook in the opinion of the masses?

Natalie Gunther and Shannon Stucky, this year's Co-Editors of Voyages, have dedicated an extraordinary number of hours to the preparation of this year's volume. Layouts, photographs, articles and concepts have been thought and re-thought in an effort to select and publish only the best that our school has to offer. If the hard work, commitment and dedication of the editors are any indicator of the greatness of the product then, this will be a great yearbook. On behalf of the West Island College Community, I would like to thank both ladies, and their many contributing committee members, for their fine work.

A yearbook records for posterity one school year. It chronicles the events, recalls the emotions and crystalizes the memories of Grade 8 or Grade 11 or, indeed, one's last year of High School. When the reading of a yearbook transports you back to that place and that time then, it is a great yearbook. Voyages 2003 is the most complete record of the school year 2002-2003 that we have at our disposal. It puts into pictures and text the many experiences that our community has had over the ten months of the school year. It places before the reader our successes and our failures as a school community; it represents the life of the school for one year.

This year, fast drawing to a close as I write this Address and attempt to meet my deadline, has been an outstanding one for The College. Our sports teams have performed well, our students have achieved academic success at a very high level and, our community has involved itself in the Calgary community to a degree never before witnessed. All internal and external measures are on the up!

To the Class of 2003 I offer my sincere gratitude for its leadership and commitment. Come back and visit, we would love to hear of your exploits. To the undergraduates I extend my promise that West Island College will continue to offer to you unparalleled opportunities to challenge yourself so that you too can be the best that you can be.

It has been a great year. Voyages 2003 will be/is a great yearbook. The future promises even more wonderful experiences to be undertaken and wonderful memories to be recorded.

Sincerely,

Jack A. Grant
Headmaster

Board of Governor's Address

It is with great pleasure that I offer a few remarks to the community of West Island College, as we head towards the end of another highly successful academic year. I thought that I might first comment on the evolution of WIC in the past year, under its new governance structure. Next, I thought that I might say something about the way that the board sees WIC's future. Last, I will offer a few words to this year's graduates, who represent the latest installment in as fine a group of young people as I have ever seen.

As most of you are aware, last June's annual general meeting marked the culmination of a transition in the School's governance structure, which, among other things, has resulted in the School being effectively "owned" by a Society, of which all of the parents of our students are the members. WIC is now governed by a broadly representative board of directors, that has proved to be extraordinarily hard-working and which very much has the interests of the School and its students at heart. Notwithstanding this year's "new beginning", the board very much wished to preserve the elements of WIC which have led to its great success and which attracted all of us in the first place. Most notable in this regard is that we signed a multi-year contract with Jack Grant, as Headmaster. Jack continues to be the heart of WIC in so many ways, and was very appropriately recognized this year, through a prestigious award from the Fraser Institute. The Fraser Institute has saluted the excellence that Jack, together with a first-rate faculty and staff, has brought to WIC and to its students.

In the board's view, the future of WIC looks very bright. The surveys of parent and student satisfaction that we conduct each year are "off the chart" in their praise. External rankings by reputable groups, like the Fraser Institute, continue to rank WIC with the very best schools. The School receives vastly more applications for admission than we can possibly accept; our retention rate of students (once accepted) is extraordinary; and our single best source of new students, by a wide margin, is from the positive recommendations of existing parents and students. The WIC board has undertaken an extensive strategic planning process over the past year, spearheaded by directors Karen Paul and Judith Potter, with the help of many others. The main message that we received from this process was that our School community is very receptive to WIC growing and changing in a managed way, but that there is a strong desire to retain the philosophy and values that have animated the School over its history. Basically, we have been advised by our community to change with the times, but not to change too much. The WIC board has been mapping out a detailed plan and has been quietly moving to try to put in place the foundation for the measured growth of WIC. We hope that the initiatives to come will enable us to make something great even better.

The board will be communicating as each step unfolds, but the WIC community can anticipate the same high quality education, excellent faculty, encouragement of second language education, prudent financial and operating management and other features of our School as have been present in the past.

Finally, I am well aware that far more advice has been given to graduates at the time of completing their studies than has been ever wanted or remembered. Thus, I will be brief on this subject.

I would very much like, on behalf of the entire WIC board, to wish each and every one of this year's graduates lives full of: health and happiness, friends and family, love and laughter. You likely already know that you have been accorded a great privilege and opportunity to attend a school like WIC, with its wonderful peer group, terrific environment and extensive learning. From here, life may become more challenging and you may not always see demonstrated, in other contexts, the same values and behaviour as you have seen here. I have always liked the advice in "Desiderata":

"Exercise caution in your business affairs, for the world is full of trickery.
But let this not blind you to what virtue there is.
Many persons strive for high ideals and everywhere life is full of heroism."

Life from here may not always be easy for you. However, you will have become someone of depth and maturity, in Rudyard Kipling's words:

"If you can meet with Triumph and Disaster
And treat those two impostors just the same.

I hope that you will all, whatever your chosen field of endeavour continue with the tradition of service to others, and to charitable, community and educational institutions generally, that you have initiated in your time at WIC. I would suggest that you will find satisfaction of the very best kind in continuing to do things that benefit others, whatever your chosen field of work.

Finally, in some words from "Desiderata" again:

"With all its sham and drudgery and broken dreams it is still a beautiful world.
Be cheerful. Strive to be happy."

Thank you, on behalf of all of the directors of WIC, for the opportunity to be of service to WIC this year.

PERSONAL VOYAGES AND A REASON FOR HOPE

I would be willing to bet that few of you have given much, if any, consideration to the significance of Jane Goodall's place as the Honorary Patron of West Island College. Most honorary patrons are solicited for reasons of political and institutional prestige. Ours is not. Jane Goodall is the spiritual steward and a leading trustee of our institutional soul. You should get to know her.

"My mind was numbed. I did not feel anything, and was dismayed at what seemed like a lack of empathy. Suddenly I noticed a single child's shoe, set on its own little case and, close by, a treasured doll that must have been clutched on the nightmare train ride, then seized by callous, uncaring hands at the end of what had been one little girl's last journey. Those images penetrated devastatingly through the numbness; a wave of anger churned my insides, my heart raced. And then a huge sadness took over. I turned away, my vision blurred....I felt the full horror of the Holocaust. The pain, the helplessness, the black despair....In the middle of one of the darkest of six huts, pushing through the concrete under one of the bunks, a little plant had tentatively emerged. Its shoots reached toward the dim light from the minute overhead skylights; its hopeful buds were ready to burst open. It had broken the legacy of the darkest and most evil period in human history. Where would I find a more potent symbol of the impermanence of schemes hatched, surely, in hell? The hell that exists in twisted and warped human minds"¹.

"Roots and Shoots"² is something that most of our students know well. But who really knew of the genesis of the symbolism in the name. It is classic Jane Goodall. There is no evil, there is no problem, there is no anguish, there is no obstacle, there is no history, there is no government, and there is no school that can snuff out the light of hope, the light of life. If the smallest of seeds, with the least of nourishment and opportunity, can break through concrete slabs, what can we humans really do if we set our minds to a goal?

We can't think of Jane as just an environmentalist or the lady who has spent her life documenting the behaviour of chimpanzees in Gombe. She is, first and foremost, a friend to all living creatures. Her gift to the friendship is her unwavering faith in the goodness of people and in the strength of our youth in whose many hands she places the stewardship of our earth. Before Jane embarked upon the biographical journey that I have quoted, I asked her how she could possibly sustain, in the face of so much environmental destruction, in the face of so much human suffering, in the face of the seemingly endless abuses of our planet's wildlife, how she could get up, day in, day out, and continue to stand and deliver.

"Jane, don't you ever become depressed...don't you ever feel like giving up...haven't we gone too far in the destruction of our environment to recover?" She paused briefly and said, "Terry, those things do make me weary, they do make me worry, but I have hope, and it I believe that each of us can make a difference, that the solution is in continuing my journey, our journey, to do all that we possibly can to achieve our goals...it is this that sustains me".

Three years later, A Reason for Hope was published. Another good friend bought it for me and gave it to me on my birthday that year. I recommend it to you for two reasons: 1. It defines what an Honorary Patron should be. 2. Jane Goodall is our being the most compelling.

And for our imminent graduates, here are some special quotes from Jane:

"....I shall go on trying until the end. And the end will be the beginning?"³

"Each one of us matters, has a role to play, and makes a difference. Each one of us must take responsibility for our own lives, and above all, show respect for living things around us, especially each other"⁴

Prefect

Address

This year's Prefect Board consisted of a diverse group of people, all of whom had the best interests of WIC and its students at heart. Playing a number of roles in the day- to- day life of the school allowed us all to get to know each other better and gave us opportunities to work together on some excellent projects.

Two parts of the traditional and continuing role of Prefects are: to set an example for others, and to serve the school community. This fine group of people proved to be entirely up to such tasks. From getting to know the grade seven students at the annual "sleep over", to helping out at numerous school events and activities, to fundraising for good causes, the Prefects were always there to lend a hand. This year's Prefects worked extremely well as a team, and accomplished a great deal because of their cooperative efforts.

To the Prefects, we simply want to say thank-you for the time, hard work and effort you put into making West Island College the best that it could be. Your efforts and hard work are highly appreciated within the entire WIC community.

We would also like to wish the very best of luck to the 2003-2004 Prefects. We certainly hope that they find that their experiences as Prefects this year have been as rewarding for themselves, as their efforts have been helpful to WIC, to its students and to the school community.

WICAA Address

Good morning and welcome to the 2002-2003 WICAA awards banquet. As a community we are gathered here today to celebrate the athletic achievements of our schools teams and to recognize individuals for their talents, leadership and improvement. We have many of the traditional awards to give out as well as a new one that this years WICAA council developed. For many grade 11's today is the big day, election results and prefect selection will be announced. And yes, we have a hilarious WICAA video these year for your viewing pleasure. But now, I'd like to take the opportunity to summarize what WICAA has done in the school as well as highlight this year's achievements from our athletic program.

This year our objective as a WICAA council has been to promote the athletics in our school. We kicked off the year with a common sports initiation. We had all the little new grade sevens and the fresh 10's painted in their house colors. The school's interscholastics started off with a golf success and the introduction of a x-country running team.

WICAA organized our first ever v-ball pep rally by bringing in a beach v-ball olympian Conrad Leinman to challenge our Jr teams as well as a team of teachers. Even though none of them were able to beat Conrad, WIC still had an incredible success in v-ball. The Sr. boys and 8/9 girls had exceptional seasons coming ohh so close to first in their leagues. The 7/8 girls were able to take first in their league and brought back the first ever Jr. v-ball banner.

Basketball season then rolled around and we had our traditional Sr. boys pep rally, which included house competitions at half time. WICAA also reestablished the Sr girls pep rally. Both these events brought about the competitive and supportive characteristics of all wic students and was successful at promoting wic's athletes. Our b-ball teams also brought back many success stories including a tripete for the 7/8 girls and the 8/9 girls had an awesome season winning every game by at least 30 points earning wic's first 9/8 girls b-ball banner. But it wasn't all the girls who did well our Sr boys made it all the way to the finals.

During the basketball season our council was involved with the adopt a family charity project. Each house was able to bring in all the necessity for a family to have a memorable Christmas. Thanks for all your donations which made this project successful.

WICAA also had Sr & Jr floor hockey lunch time tournaments which let the grade 12 "foot longs" pound the teachers. This event drew record crowds of SRs for an intermural event.. The teachers had their revenge at the rematch during the winter spirit day which was organised by both WICAA and student's council. The Jrs made up wic's varsity floor hockey which is a first in several years and the girls came in first. The 8/9 girls also brought out many Jr supporters as they challenged the teachers at a basketball showdown.

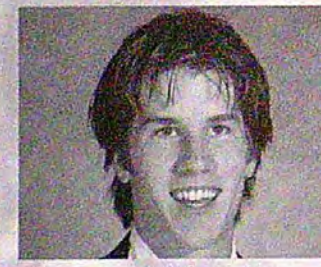

As the b-ball season winded down the council was busy preparing for the best and most unique spirit day, Ski Day. Some students chose to take advantage of the slopes while others took on the adventures of scuba. The spirit day was a lot of hard work and planning, but all the filmed wipe outs, which you will see in the video, were definitely worth it.

Badminton brought out various Jrs & Srs who made it all the way to provincials. Both teams have equal bragging rights over the new banners and their successes. As soon as the snow melted our spring teams were tearing up St. Matts. Both the Rugby and Field Hockey teams to on some of the larger public high school's in and around the city. While, there were so many Jrs interested in soccer that we had two full soccer teams.

Lastly, before we go on to the awards I would like to thank Mrs. Armitage for her dedication and her hard work this year wouldn't have been so successful if it wasn't for you. Mrs Rigby thanks for all our energy and innovative ideas, have fun with the council next year. Thanks to the Jr house captains, Steph, Kate, Kailey and Paige you were awesome good luck in high school. The assistants, Christina, Marina and Eric thanks for your persistence in making intramurals a success have fun with your last year at wic. Jason thanks for keeping our house on top have fun at university next year. Ryan, your work on the WICAA video is exceptional, I can't believe you could make field hockey look so funny, good job on bringing your house from last place to competing for first. Dave you had great ideas and were always able to make us focus on the bigger picture and it always helps to have someone around who is tall, good luck with your tennis at Dartmouth. Alex you're a true inspiration and a great leader. On behalf of the 2002-2003 WICAA council I would like to wish next years council all the best, we hope you have as much fun as we did.

Student's Council Address

Over the course of the school year, Student's Council has organized many events and functions and planned various activities for the student body. But how exactly does a committee like the Council go about putting together an event like a spirit day or a school dance. To give you an idea of what we do, we have, with the allowance of the most secretest of authorities, involved, released for publication these classified minutes from one of our meetings.

Date: Friday, May 9, 2003

Marek: I'd like to call this meeting to order

Kasia: O.K. for our next spirit day, why don't we got to Shanlee: No, that's stupid.

Kasia: but I haven't even suggested any

Shanlee: Stupid!

Marek: Wait now, lets not put anyone down like this, why don't we all

Shanlee: Shut up Marek

Marek: Hey, now wait, I think

Shanlee: Shut up Marek!

Marek: O.K. I'm sorry.

Kasia: Now, what I was going to say

Marek: Wait, before you tell us your idea, can I just quickly

Kasia: Don't ever interrupt me!

Marek: O.K. I'm sorry! I'm sorry!

Kasia: You had better be!

Marek: Please don't hit me, oh God! Please don't hit me again!

Kasia: You just watch it!

Mr. McCarthy: You know what's funny about this whole situation? That the embarrassment of Marek being hit right now would feel worse than the physical pain.

Adam: What?

Mr. McCarthy: Well, its just the Teenagers are so self conscious, that if something really embarrassing happens to them in their adolescence, it will make a more lasting impression on them then the sensation of physical pain.

Christopher J. Stone: Yeah

Adam: I kinda see what you mean.

Christopher J. Stone: Yeah

Lisa: It's like that one time that I screwed up at my band recital

Adam: Ha! That's like that girl from American Pie, One time, at band camp

Marek: That was so incredibly stupid Adam.

Kasia: Shut up, your stupid.

Marek: I'm sorry, I really am, please don't hit me.

Christopher J. Stone: Yeah

Samantha: Hey, who's that kid sitting over there.

Blake Tompson: I'm Blake Tompson, the grade twelve rep.

Samantha: Oh, I've never seen you here before.

Claire: That's because he never comes to the meeting.

(Blake just leaves)

Marek: O.K. well, getting back to the spirit day

Shanlee: Stupid.

Alex: Hey, where did Blake go.

Adam: He's absent as usual, in more ways then one.

Alex: What is that supposed to mean?

Kasia: O.K. guys, can we get back to the spirit day?

Marek: That's what I keep trying to get them to do but they just keep on Kasia: Did you just interrupt me? Oh, that's it

Marek: Wait, no please.

Well, I hope that gave you a good idea of what we do here at Students Council. A lot of hard work goes into running all the student oriented activities that we organize, but you can rest assured that the work gets done, done well and done on time by competent, reliable individuals that you elected for your representation. So til next time, old chum, this is Adam West signing out.

Marek (a.k.a The Real Batman) Broniewski

Mr. Macarthy was always one to stand out in a crowd!

What a job - Feeding 350 hungry teenagers! Keep up the good work

Waiting is a hard... except when food is involved!

Chow Time! The Jrs. happily eat their free hot dogs and chips

Yearbook

Address

Well, despite the constant stress and irritability that comes with making a yearbook, (especially when you procrastinate) it is also incredibly satisfying to finish it. Yearbook is a fun experience, filled with laughter and tears (especially at yearbook camp - yes there is a camp... don't think that we will never forget! Thank you to all of those people who helped out in some way or another (captions, write ups, scanning, pictures, etc). Without your help we would have probably been here in August... Instead of just July. We would also like to thank Mr. Parnel for all the encouragement he gave us not to mention a new hard drive, and Mac computers to work on. A special thanks goes to Mr. Poitrios for his help throughout the year. A word of advice to next year's crew... hopefully there is a crew... don't use Mac computers, don't procrastinate, take twice as many pictures as you could possibly use and most importantly have fun!

Student Life:

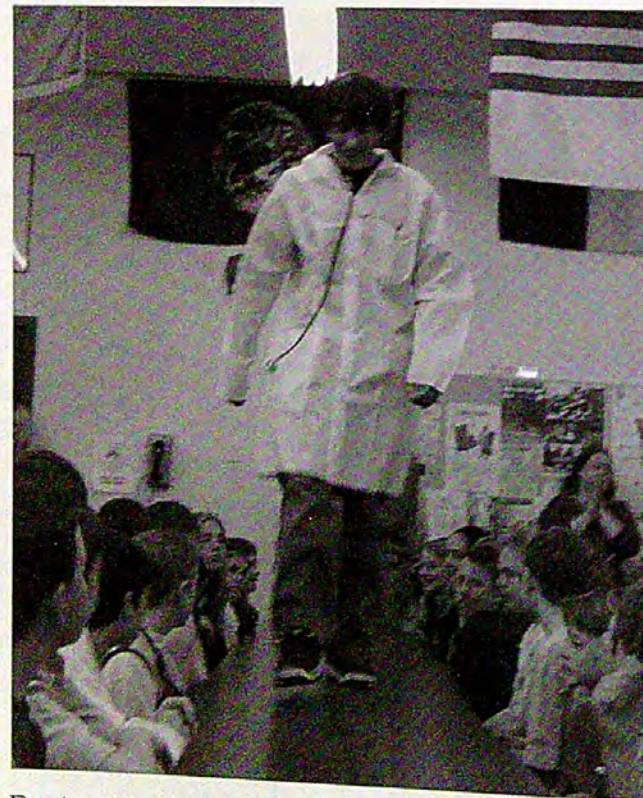

The good stuff

The grade 12s auction themselves off on Drudge Day.

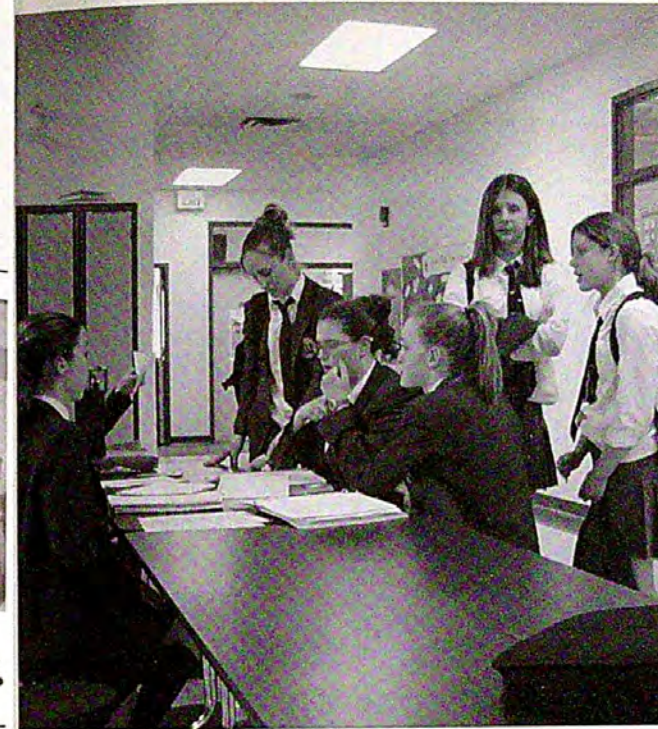

Laura and Emma show off their stylish looks

Dr. Ata prescribes a bit of himself to all the ladies.

Dave's true colors emerge in his western style

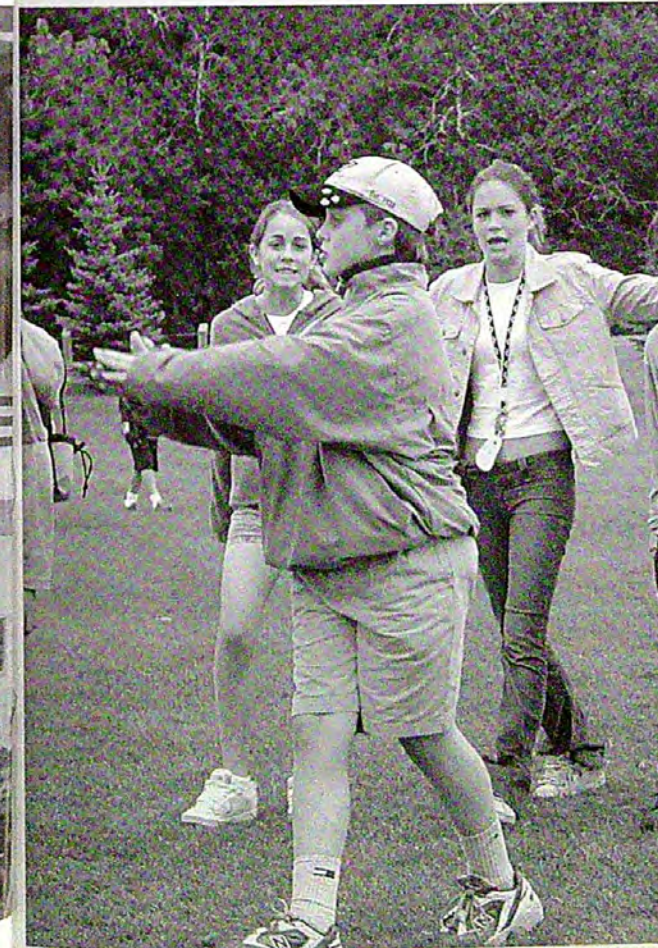

Wow, french is sooo interesting. Actually, it's that hot guy in grade 8.

Uh oh...we're in trouble, aren't we?

Oh!! That's something I sooo did not want to see!

Look at that shining WIC spirit!

This conversation is sooo not interesting.

Look! Look! I'm as round as the sun!

Posing with your friends on Halloween is more fun than doing work!

Warning! Vampire on the loose! Keep your children at home!

Scream! mua ha ha ha ha ha!

Decorating Pumpkins is way better than doing Physics! - theory of everything (Just kidding Mr. Salberg heh heh eh...)

Halloween: All Hallows Eve

What's the only place you can find Catwoman, The Paper Bag Princess, a cave woman, a hot model and a native chilling together??? WIC!!

Damn Emma Pullman is so fine! Oh wait that's Edward!

Quick hide your dalmations - Cruella DeVille is on the loose!

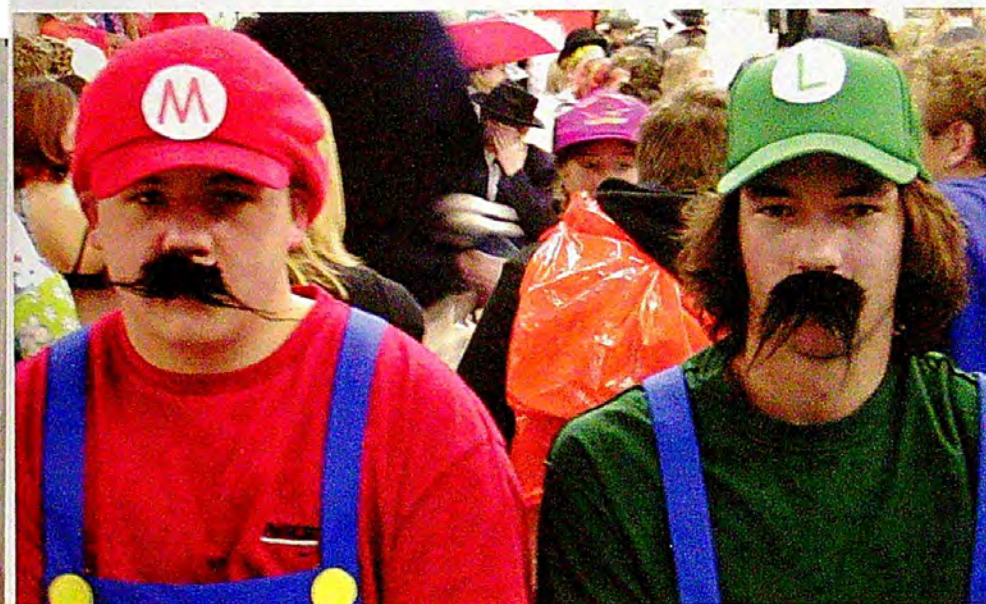

Jason... Buddy... Midlife crisis doesn't happen until you are 40!

Poodle skirts will never go out of fashion!

Hey Babe, you know I'm fine, Don't even try to roll your eyes at me. You know you want this.

Mario - "We must save the Princess!"

Luigi - "yeah sure, but first I must trim my moustache"

Go Beastie Boys!

Dude, those glasses are soo rad!

What?! Sitting around on a spirit day? Shame! Shame on the grade twelves! Rolemodels... yeah...right.

WIC's own supernerds! ...Aly and Abeed??

The moment of truth...it is out there...somewhere...

Halloween

The amazing Halloween fashion show...the students of WIC show their true colors to their unsuspecting friends...and the staff.

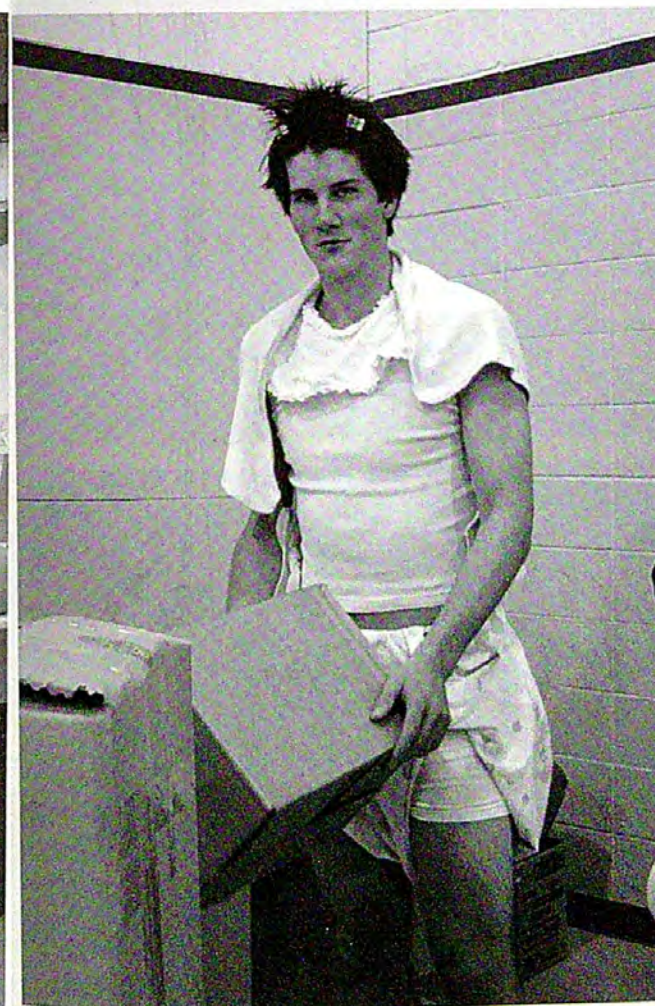

They know they want to be like us, they just haven't accepted it yet.

They put Hans and Frans on the run!

Someone's got an amazing wardrobe.

AAAA! The mafia is coming! The mafia!

The force is strong in Vanessa...

Mommy wow! I'm a big kid now!

Aaaaaa...shade...at least we don't have to climb in the sun anymore...wait. I was wrong. sigh

Taking a break already? No wonder they move so slowly, they always stop at the beach!

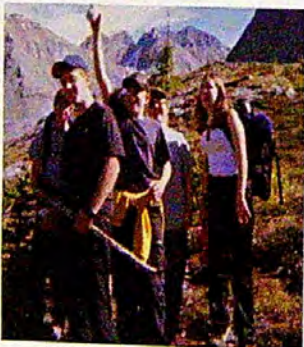

"So when do we start kayaking?"

"soon, we have to tan first!"

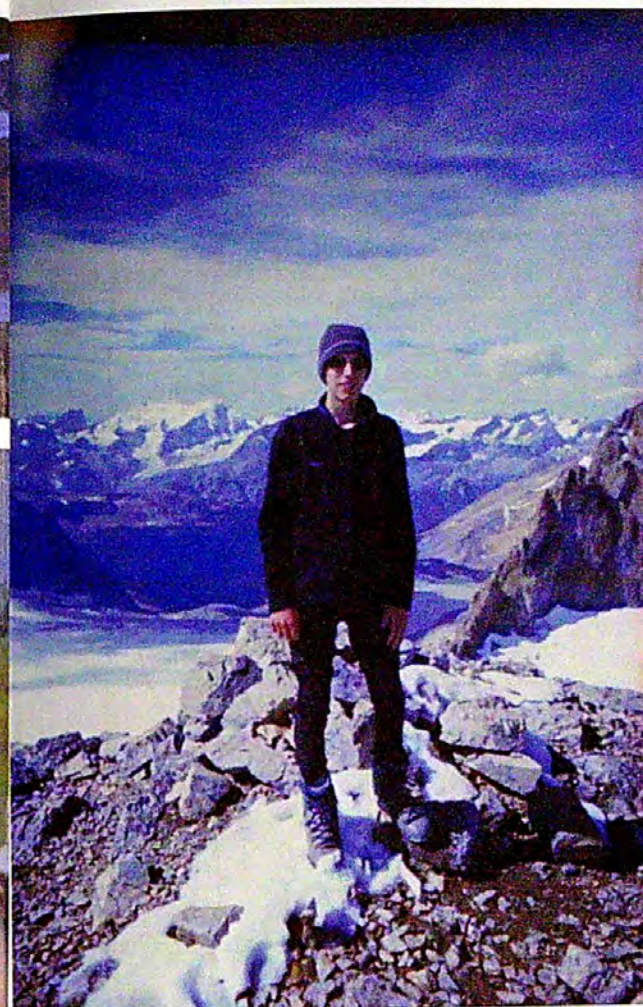

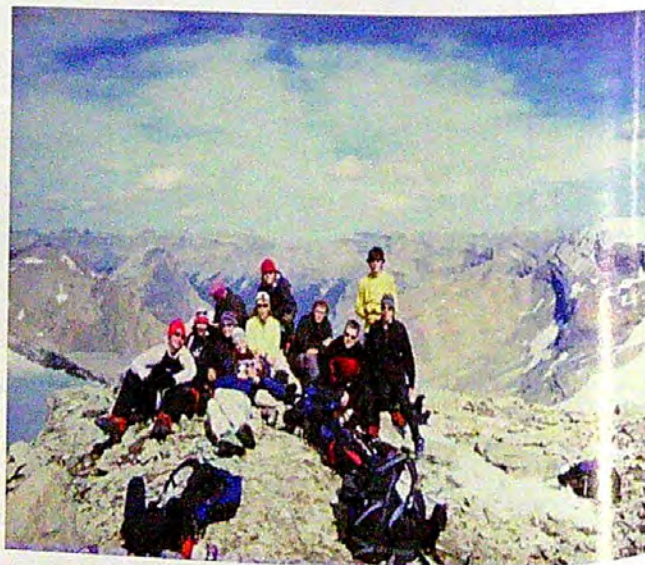

Yes! A chance to go fishing! I was wondering when the fun would start.

Up, up, and away!!

The climbing group poses for a shot on the top. Good job guys!

On top of the world...or in this case, a pile of rocks. But beggars can't be choosers, can they?

Kayaking is sooo much fun! Especially on land.

"We know the trip is exciting, but don't choke Liz!"

Athletics? Gym class? No comparison.

Outdoor Education

Ugh, ice, I hate ice, why do we have to climb on ice?

SPLASH!!! Apparently you have to get wet when you kayak...who knew?

Sitting on a rock, one of my favorite pastimes, it's right up there with homework.

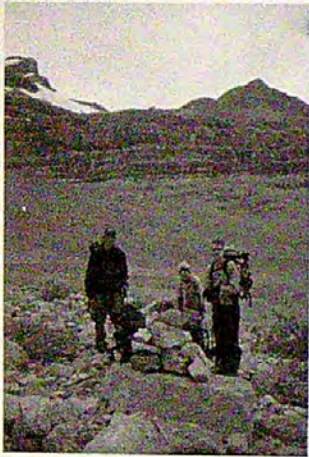

The kayakers take a break on land for lunch before they get back in the water.

"I'm king of the world!!"
Don't fall from glory...or the cliff.

Nice moves girls! Very synchronized.

We're ready to go! These girls from the canoe trip smile for the camera.

Another hill?! When will they make it stop???

Lunch Break! A well deserved rest in the wilderness.

Making our way through the Terry Fox run

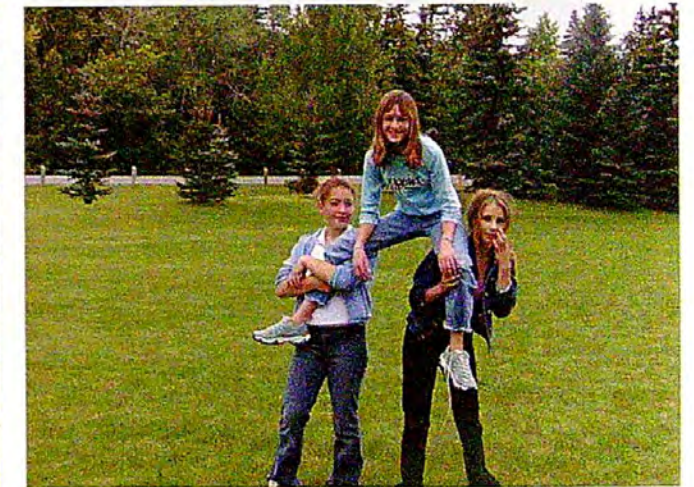

The Terry Fox Run: moments spent for others.

The Terry Fox run of 2003 was a great success for WIC. The junior high students were shown an informative, and touching video by the staff before they set off from the school. After understanding what the run was for and about, the students filled up the buses and headed for the park. By setting personal goals on how far they could run, each student began his/her run. Having fun with friends while working for charity was definitely something wonderful for the school to set up for all of the junior high students of WIC.

The Seven's learn how to "dress nicely"

On February 12, Student's Council held one of its most memorable dances ever. It wasn't just the turnout that made it wonderful...nor the romantic theme of the dance; the dance helped raise money for Ken's Kids, a charitable cause. The money collected will provide two young Burmese refugees, Jerry and Daisy, an opportunity to stay in school and receive a good education. Ken's Kids was started by one of WIC's past faculty members, Ken McCaffery, who became headmaster for a school in Chiang Mai, Thailand.

Though he is not present to see the great accomplishments of WIC's students, I'm sure he is proud of the school he has left, and will be very happy when he sees the final cheque from all of our fundraising. Thank-you very much to Student's Council for your hard work, and the students for their participation at all of the dances this year. It is a truly wonderful notion that WIC's students have such caring and open hearts.

Detective Sketches and The Tangled Snarl

This spring saw fourteen students leave for the varied country of Ecuador. The trip was split into three distinct portions: the highlands of the Andes, the Galapagos and the Amazonian rainforest. Our accommodations included an authentic hacienda, a quaint Quito guesthouse, a jungle lodge complete with resident Boa constrictor and our own private vessel to transport us from island to island. Lasting memories include: Swimming with sea lions and sharks (friendly ones of course), matching jungle footwear (i.e. rubber boots), bargaining at local markets, snow capped volcanoes, soccer games at 11 000 feet, salsa dancing at the disco, night time jungle hikes complete with Bird-eating tarantulas and the ever smiling faces of the Ecuadorians. The students are to be commended on how they embraced every new experience with enthusiasm and humour (especially 6 am bird watching forays).

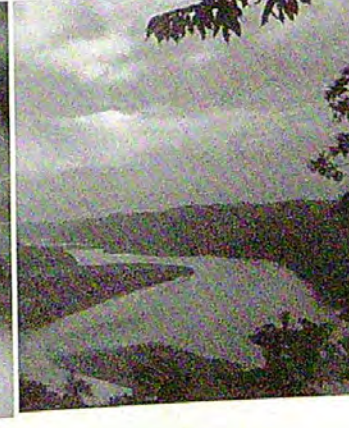

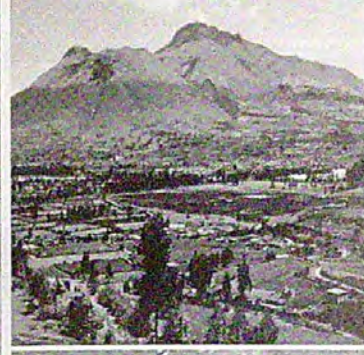

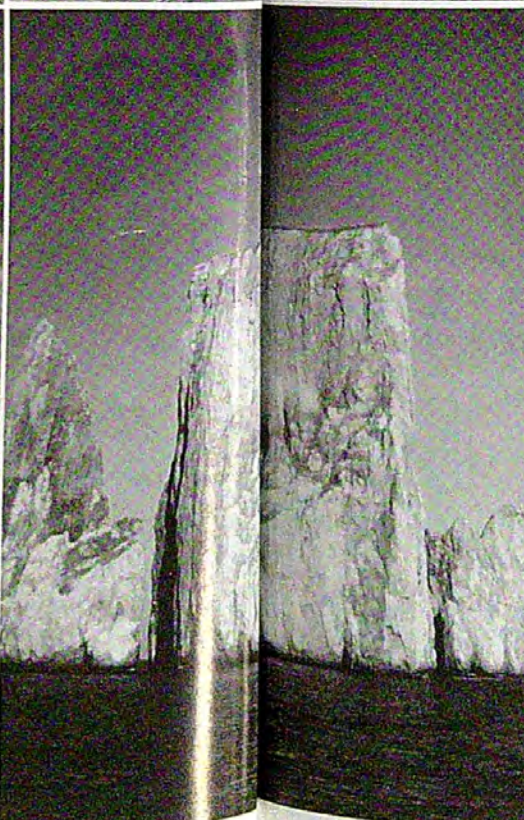

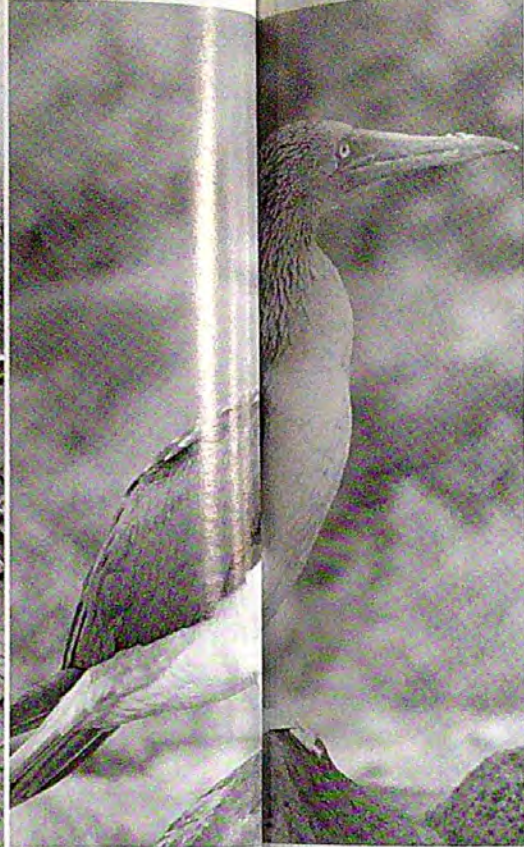

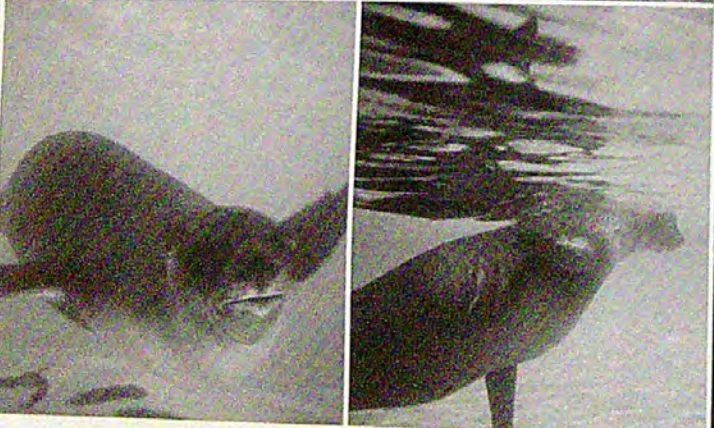

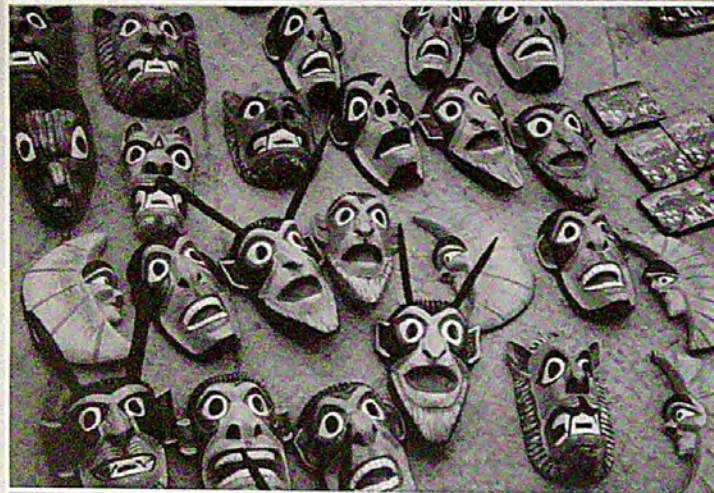

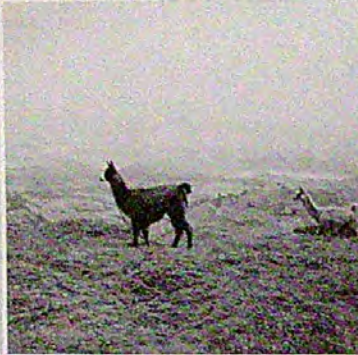

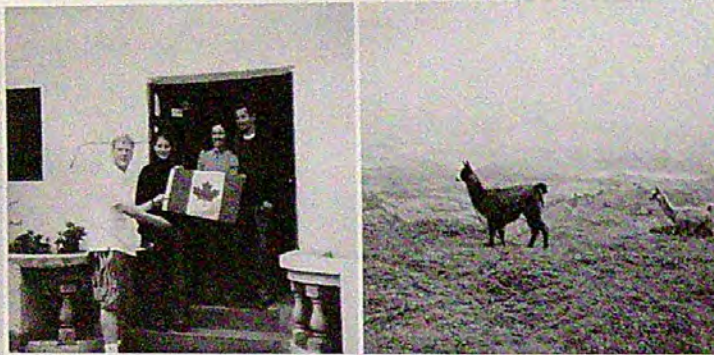

Steeve Smith
Jennifer Rigby

This year's travel studies trip to Galapagos was hugely successful for everyone who was involved. Not only were we fortunate to see an amazing variety of wildlife, but we also experienced local culture, had a lot of fun, and felt like real travelers instead of tourists because we saw a picture of authentic Ecuadorian life. One highlight of the trip was staying at a local Hacienda in the Ecuadorian highlands. We were able to play soccer against local school kids and visit a crater lake set amidst volcanoes. Our boat tour of the Galapagos Islands was incredible; we were very close to all of the wildlife that we saw, such as the blue-footed boobies, flamingoes, and giant tortoises. One of the best moments of the trip was going snorkeling with the sea lions and playing with them, sometimes coming an inch away from them. Our visit to the rainforest was also amazing because we swam in a waterfall, swung off vines like Tarzan, and we were even able to use blowguns and spears. Overall, the trip to the Galapagos was absolutely incredible and I think it will be the highlight of everyone's high school memories. Thank you so much to WIC for taking us on truly a trip of a lifetime.

Sara Ross

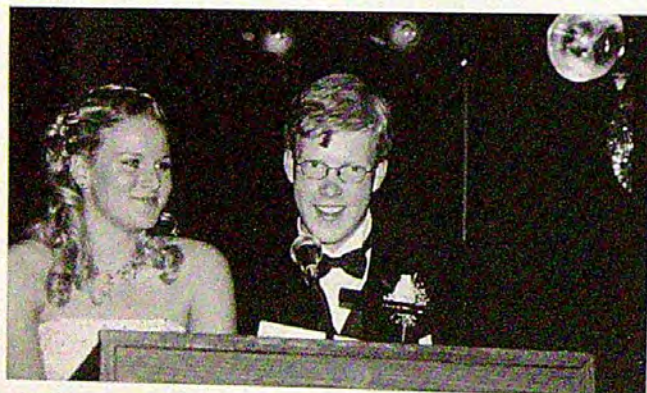

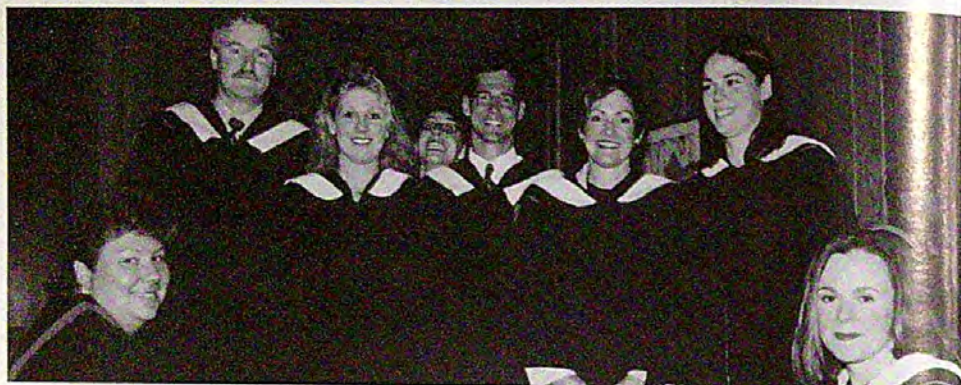

Unfortunately, the Galapagos/Ecuador trip was the only one of four separate travel study options this year to go as scheduled. The other trips which were China, Morocco, and London/Pairs, were all cancelled due to the American war against Iraq, and the global spread of SARS. The West Island College Board of Governeners decided on behalf of the students that these trips were not going to be a safe environment. Most students were reimbursed for their contributions, and many recieved open plane tickets. However some students were unable to recieve proper compensation. We hope next year's trips do not run into any obstacles that faced this year's group of students. A special thanks goes to Mr. McCarthy for all of his planning and hard work.

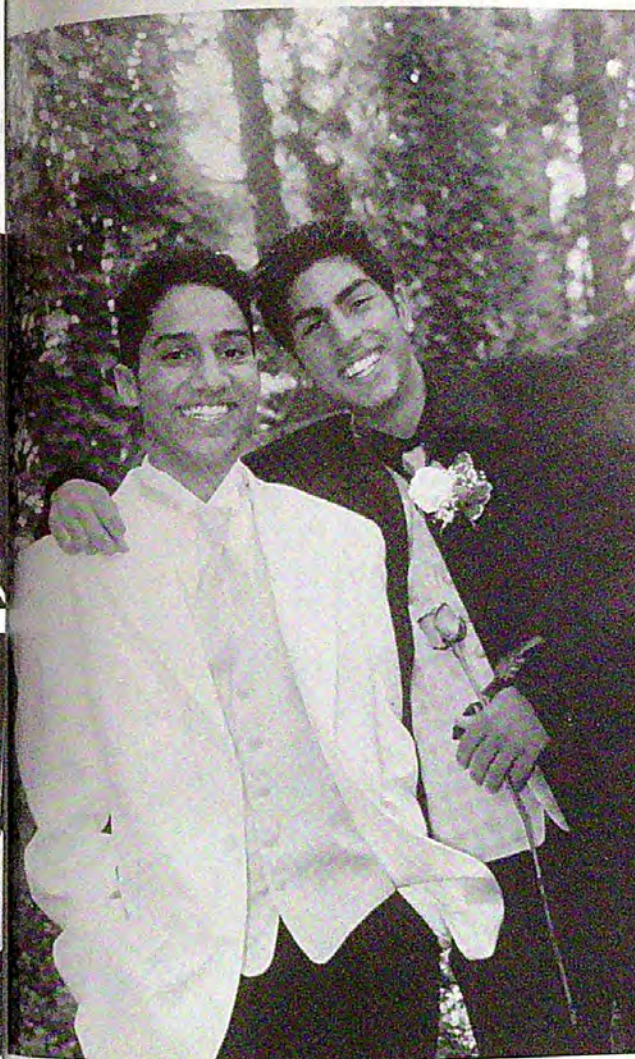

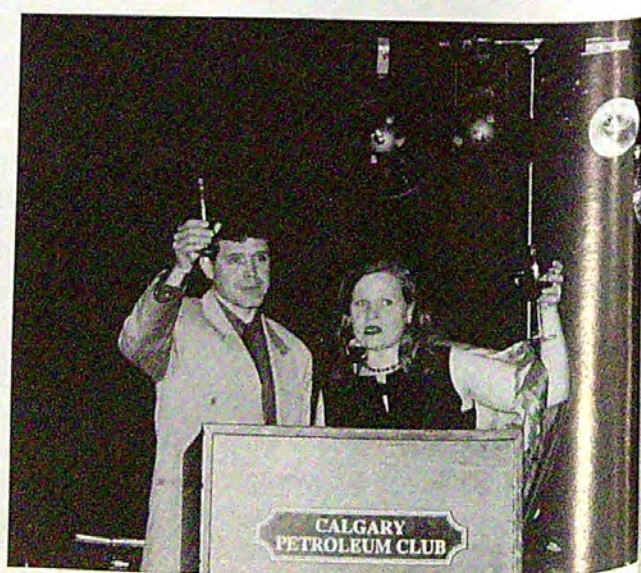

Graduates

As one chapter ends, another one always begins....

James sings "The Weight" and dedicates it to Kasia.

Mr. Smith and Mme Muller make a toast to all of the teachers here at WIC. We certainly couldn't have gotten this far without them!

Believe it or not, these are the same two gentleman that are on page 20-21.

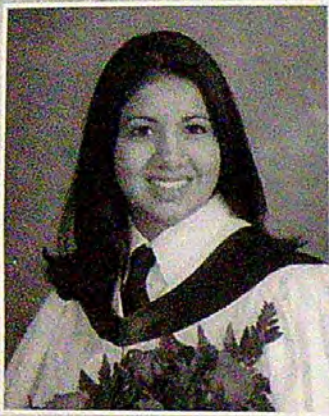

Blake and Robyn made a speech about this year, the good, the bad, and the messy (go recycling!)

Cass and Davis make a speech about each graduate.

The party portion of Grad starts as the graduates make their way on to the dance floor.

Aleya Amershi

"Experience is what you get, when you do not get what you want."

Thank-you to everyone who made my experience at WIC such a memorable one. (Good luck . . . Take care ;)

Michael Ata

Well, what can I say? Six years of my life soon will be but memories filled with good times, bad times, and all those slightly philosophical bits that make up those in-between periods. WIC has been a positive and negative experience, I've pushed myself to my limits and achieved more than I thought possible for myself. I have also failed many times along the way. Through failing, however, one finds his own limits and ways to break away from them. There is still so much more that I need to learn and experience before I can truly understand myself. Hopefully, with time and a little luck, I'll be able to do just that. Thank you to all who have stood by me and believed in me, even through times of great trouble. You will never be forgotten and I will never truly part from you no matter what direction life takes us in, you know who you are. I cannot express in words the amount your help has guided me throughout my high school life, and for that I am eternally grateful. "Listen to the words of the wise but do not falter from your own course, even wise men do not know what is best for you".

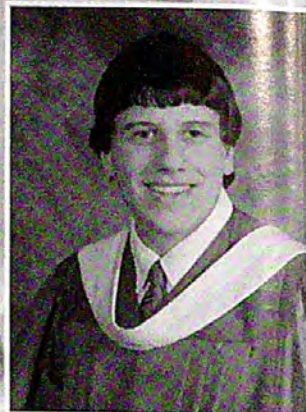

Laura Baker

Wow, the last six years have come and gone so fast. It's hard to believe we were once the little grade sevens in the school. Rather now we're the grade twelves about to leave our legacy and set foot on a new journey. It wouldn't have been possible to make it this far without the endless support of my teachers, and parents. Thanks to all my friends who were always there for me, in the good times and the bad times, you guys are awesome. Keep in touch! And remember, "Wherever you go, go with all your heart" - Confucius. I miss you guys.

Cassandra Berard

I can't believe it's over. I remember my first day of grade 7, looking at the grade 12's thinking two things: I'm going to be here forever! And how old and mature the grade 12's looked but heads-up to everyone they weren't, we aren't and you won't be! WIC has been nothing short of incredible! To all my teachers, my friends, and of course the Class Afloat crew, thank you. The bad corner (RM,BT,AB,DB,MES) ... Badminton bam...longer walks home then they should have been...center 70 (LF, LH,CW) DW Palm Springs, I beat you in France...AT summers at the lake . . . AG,SV, KR, NB panorama... caution while vacuuming car...endless parties...VO Egypt... AR money shot...DW I will one day beat the Tacoma...MC ugh I'm so sexy...late night msgs ...MES spare buddy...NB you missed out... LR super awesome, RM- E brakes in the Audi...G-co...wed afternoons...will you drive my car... shout out to my partners in crime SV and AG, we so got away with it, sorry JG and AT for the cars!... kickin' it with my bro and to my parents who stood by me.

Well I can't say that I will miss this but it was fun in its own way. Its now time to move on, to bigger and better things. To see the world how you want to. To be the person that you want to be and to live the way you want. I hope all of you find happiness in everything that you do. NEVER have any regrets in life.

Well, I never thought that I would reach the point of graduating high school, and actually needing to write up a grad bio. This leaves me with an emptiness to write... but all I can reflect upon is the last six years at WIC being great times. Sure, there were some bad times, but what I've learned in the last few years is to never regret anything you do. All of the friendships I've made here have really impacted me and I can't thank them enough for it. I'll never forget anything from the last 6 years, because it truly has been life shaping... I wish nothing but happiness to everyone. The past was great, but let's raise up another one for many more to come!

It is unfortunate that all good things must end on a sad note; their termination. I send my most heartfelt thanks to all the students, teachers and staff at West Island College that have made my journey through here the memorable experience that it has been. Only with the greatest fondness do I look back upon my years at WIC; at all the good times and all the better times spent here. And as we set out on our divergent paths, to conquer new horizons and explore new worlds, I wish you all the best of luck no matter where life may take you.

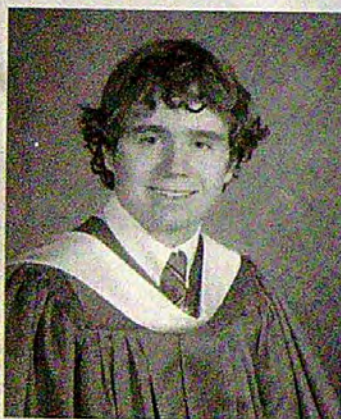

Lyndie Burtt

Yes! We're graduating! It has been a long journey, for some six whole years at WIC, and we have finally made it! I would like to wish you all good luck in your future endeavors. And lastly before we part, I'd like to offer you all one piece of advice, that is, don't think too much, it'll really make your brain hurt. Have a nice life!

Let's be honest. WIC's been great. I love my friends, the faculty's friendly and the community is close. But I haven't always felt that way. WIC is like every journey/challenge in my life. It usually sucks in the beginning (Grade 7&8), it gradually gets better (Grade 9 &10), than it's amazing (Grade 11&12). When it's all said and done, WIC was truly a great experience. But even if something in life does suck, have no regrets because everything happens for a reason. So just GIV'ER. Thanks to my parents, my sister, my friends, blahblahblah I LOVE YOU ALL!!!!!!
Now.....onto my new life.

My two years at WIC were... interesting to say the least. New people, new friends and new relationships (JS). There are too many memories.

Signs, Bourne Identity, KECDW, Red Dragon (Hannibal still owns you!), Bermuda & Club 40, Can I take a picture of the whole family? Who you callin' a goose? Ich ma da youska.

Who the * is Kathy?

Taylor Farrow

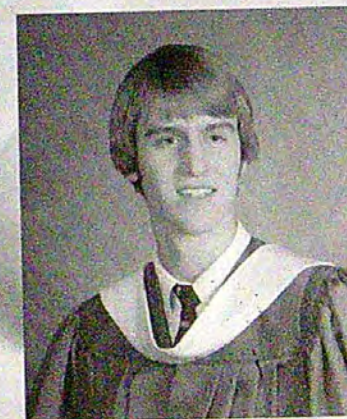

It's been a long road to walk, and there's been times it was difficult, but the many things I'd like to remember, made it worth my while. New friends, who became old friends; (KB, KA, CS, LG, ID, TW, CS, CG), ISA, Belgium, zip line, my life in Scotland, BB&D, Hamilton School, my family, my teachers; (MW, MH, MO, MS, MS), WIC, Catapult, and my hope for the future. I'll earn the bridge's steel. And with it make a difference for the crowd. And I hope that when I'm old I will leave a fond memory of myself with those who were closest to me. Thank you all.

It's been a great two years at WIC in which I've played on most of the sports teams and succeeded in all the classes that I've taken. Not to say that it didn't come without hard work because it was hard but worth it. I want to thank my parents for supporting me throughout my schooling and for always believing in me. I hope that I'm ready to graduate because it just seems like everything's gone by too fast, oh well, it's time to move on in life's great journey. Just a quote from Chris Rock: "You know the world is going crazy when the best rapper is a white guy, the best golfer is a black guy, the tallest guy in the NBA is Chinese, the Swiss hold the America's Cup, France is accusing the U.S. of arrogance, Germany doesn't want to go to war, and the three most powerful men in America are named 'Bush', 'Dick', and 'Colon'. Need I say more?"

Lindsay Franko

My 3 years at WIC have been full of countless memories, consisting of my friends, the teachers and my family; thank you all, it's been a blast. Cheers to the weekends, the hard times and the good times, and all of you. Never forget the jeep that made it through it all, the box, the slurpees and the other crazy times. And so I leave you with a quote: "Drink today, and drown all sorrow; You shall perhaps not do it tomorrow; Best, while you have it, use your breath; There is no drinking after death". - John Fletcher

Jacks-on Jacks-off. Amy you need a quater? Matty try not to break anymore desks. I ave you need to work on that moon walking, so many good times. Aly let's make up an game. Ryan PASS ME THE BALL! Cass, quick while the teacher is not looking, wat to me throw another pen at the vent. Probe master VEG what's the temperature at? Sherrn nate the one liner King. BUBBLEGUM!

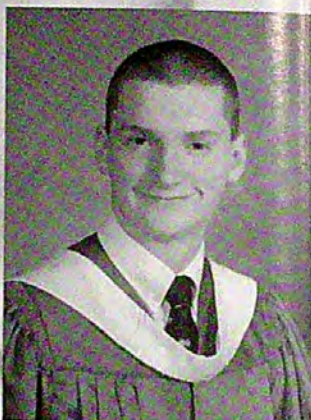

Natalie Gunther

I can't believe it's really over! No matter where I go or what I end up doing, I will never forget my three years at WIC. There are so many people here who have touched my life. Lauren and Alissa, thanks for all the laughter and encouragement. Shannon. I will never forgive myself if we lose touch. Thank-you for understanding. Thank-you to everyone, specially all my teachers. Maybe now I'll grow up ... we'll see. wink Keep smiling, it never fails to make someone's day.

Who would have thought that time would pass so quickly! I started this journey 6 years ago and now it's over. WIC was a great experience where I learned and experienced numerous things.

To all my friends and family, I'll never forget you! You have made this experience something to remember. I wish you all good luck and happiness in the future.

To sum up the last three years of my life in 141 words: I feel those who need to be thanked, and those who know me best, have already been addressed. I don't think I ever managed to be on time for school in the past three years. Grade 10 was the best year of high school. I feel no need to say good-bye to anyone as our friendships go beyond the boundaries of the vessel entrapping us (for the time being at least). Thanks to those who enlightened me along my journey (I don't want anyone to feel bad because they are not named, those deserving know so). Special thanks to those who made travel studies 2003 such a success, this including George W. My last words stand:

"Mr. Madison, what you just said, is one of the most insanely idiotic things I've ever heard. At no point in your rambling incoherent response, were you even close to anything that could be considered a rational thought. Everyone in this room is now dumber for having listened to it. I award you no points, and may God have mercy on your soul." -Billy Madison

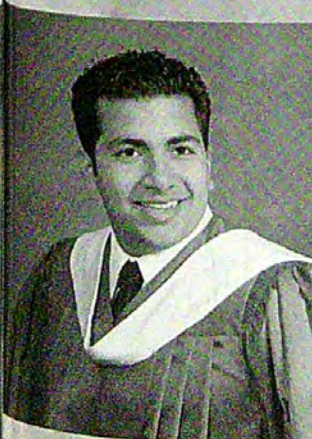

Yeah...that pretty much sums up my school years.

Cheers to my fam, my wonderful teachers and my unforgettable friends. Class Afloat rocked.

Here we go, off to a whole new world.

Peace.

It's over, and the past 3 years have been a great ride, but I'm glad it's over. So many memories, from only a few years time, that will be remembered forever. The great friends are what made this journey memorable. That is not only a statement of experience but also a guide for those to follow. Your friends will make or break you, they will lend their hand wherever you need it and at the end of the day they will walk beside you. To all that have offered their support in these past few years, thank you. We are, and always will be the Gentlemen of WIC. It doesn't matter how hard you fall, it's how fast you get up that counts.

"Adventure isn't hanging on a rope off the side of a mountain. Adventure is an attitude that we must apply to the day to day obstacles of life- facing new challenges, seizing new opportunities, testing our resources against the unknown, and in the process, discovering our own unique potential."

Wow, I'm finally out of here! I can't believe that I made it this far! First, I want to thank the admission for allowing me to have so many spares, giving me the opportunity to enjoy the last shred of my high school experience. Second, I want to thank the teachers that helped me realize that everything in my wardrobe was not appropriate for the school's grub days. To Mr. MC Rennie (aka: einner), I loved your off the wall antics that made social class worth showing up too. To Mrs. McGee, thanks for giving me my first and only 1 effort rating ever! And, to Mrs. Rigby, remember the "full moon", just another day in gym class. Now, to mention my classmates, dearest friends and of course, the wild weekends we had! To all the surprise 18th birthday parties, to New Year's, to all the bars and taxi's we shared together, I'll never forget. From Amy Gunderson's super funny quotes from Billy Madison, to mine, Cass, Shanlee and Nadia's weekly trips to Tim Horton's/ Starbucks by the car load, to our marshmallow fights at Davis', to Edward sticking pens up his nose, I remember fondly. Thanks to all my girls and boys who stuck it out since grade 7 and thanks to those who joined through the years. Everyone did something to make the experience of WIC not so bad. I believe that's what I think of or write that won't get cut out. Over all, the one thing that I truly loved about high school was the amazing times I had with my friends!

Later days!

All the embarrassing moments over the past 6 years seemed to disintegrate into thin air. It's all the fun and happy times that are remembered. These years were great, there were some amazing times individually and as a group. It is these fond memories that we will remember in years ahead. The friends made and secrets shared over these years has been quite an experience. No matter how long these past years may seem, there's always more ahead; more obstacles, and more cliffs to climb, but there is always a way over top or around. Have a great future, Class of 2003!

These last five years passed by so quickly I can't believe it's over so soon. It's really too difficult to sum up my time at WIC in so few words, so all I can say is that it has been a blast! I am genuinely grateful for everything this school has offered and helped me to achieve. I will be eternally indebted to all of my truly amazing teachers, especially Mrs. McGee, Ms. Snowden, and Mr. McCarthy. Thank you for all of your support, kindness, brilliant teaching, and most of all for believing in me. Oh yeah, Mr. Grant I LOVE YOU! (Only because Mr. McCaffrey's gone) To all of my wonderful friends: despite the tears, laughter, good times and bad, I couldn't have done it without all of you. I love you all to the stars and back! I will miss everyone so much! (We better stay in touch). Always remember Oscar Wilde's words of wisdom: "We are all in the gutter but some of us are looking at the stars." I've learned a lot during my three years at WIC but I still have some important questions of mine unanswered. Like, why do they call it rush hour when the cars are most certainly not rushing? And why do you park in a driveway? Maybe I'll find the answers at university or maybe I'll just start calling my driveway the parkway. Either way I'll be having fun with life and hopefully others will too. And please, remember to support your local hooker...play rugby.

Reflecting on my years at WIC, I have learned a lot, and I realize that my knowledge should be shared with all. For example, black skate shoes are enough to get you through the year without getting a reprimand. It's also very easy to trick people into eating dog biscuits by putting them in a sports tie for being horrible at a sport (team B-floor hockey, thanks Mr. Rennie). Oh, and if you want to get out of English class for 20 minutes, just pop an edible fake blood packet in your mouth and get someone to hit you in the back of the head near the teacher, worked like a charm for Mr. McGee. And with all that I still have no idea how to put on a tie. Finally for all the younger students here are some things you should always remember: The humor of a fart machine can only last until it is found taped under the projector, WIC does not offer free rides, arguing with Mr. McGee is pointless, and some days it never hurts to have the lunchtime special (A.B. & B.T.). Thanks for everything everyone.

PS: Friendship is the key to happiness (hope all is well wherever you guys may be). Special thanks to Debra, Jennifer, and Shanazz

When I first walked into WIC, at the start of grade seven I was amazed to see the grade twelves that seemed so big at the time, and I couldn't wait until the day when I would be big like them, I'm still waiting. Oh well!! At least I can look back on my years at WIC and remember all the good times that filled them. I am happy that I was able to spend my high school years with such close friends. I'll miss you next year!! And now it's all over. I think I can say that I'm ready for the years ahead because either way I have no choice but to move on to bigger and better things. Thank you to my family, my friends and the teachers at WIC that were there for me through the good and bad times. Good luck to everyone in the future!!

Well, its definatley been a crazy 3 years. I feel like I've totally changed from grade 10 (whew!) and I owe it to WIC. I'd had a lot of fun with you guys on field hockey trips "pizza yes, boys no", in invermere with the dy-nasty, pulling over off highways to put on mascara, spring break 2001 "take off your shirt and I'll throw ice cubes at you", and seeing what amazing things can come from a canoe trip. (Clearly.) Thanks guys, it's been a blast. Good luck. PEACE I'M OUTTA HERE!

I was here, but now I'm gone. I left this picture to turn you on. I was here for 5 years and it has been fun. The boat was incredible. Thank you to my parents, who provided their Bling, Love, and support throughout the years. Thank you to all the teachers who put up with my shiz nit (All of you). And to all the teachers who really made a difference - Mr. Rennie /Mr.McCarthy. WERD TO: Nick - AWOSHERT. We are there for each other like Nate Dogg and Warren G in regulators. Speakin da ACK was always fun. Habid - remember when I woke that dude up with my fingers in his nose? Todd aka. Farrel, Marquis - Lunchtimes were always very open. Can't forget Liam Sharp. Ryan, Drew, BB, G money, Roommates - Kyle and Matt, Jason - lookin forward to Bishop's, Davis - get a room, Adil - Homar - Foonse. Maz - err, James, Willy, and to all the ladies, I could not have survived WIC without you. Paige - eye candy, Nadia - my first luv. Vanessa, Laura, Cass, Amy, Shanman, Alex, Courtney, Lindz, all of you. Especially Maggy - you are the reason that my grade 12 year was so good. Chillin at the box was the bomb diggity. I love EVERYBODY. Word to your momz I came to drop bombs heh heh heh. - ANIMAL THUG aka.

You'd think after twelve years of school you'd have something witty to say in this thing. Well, I don't, but I do think high school was a pleasant surprise; adults are always saying how terrible it was. Thank you to Mr. Rennie, Mr. Smith, and Ms. Snowden for making class endurable. Hey B.O., A.L., Remember that time we said inside jokes in grad bios were retarded?

Good luck next year everyone!!

In my two years a WIC I have enjoyed my time and will miss the camaraderie of my friends. Without them the years would have been much longer. I would also like to thank the Teachers for sharing so much of their knowledge, without them WIC would be just another school. To my spare/hacky sack partners Davis: Don't give up your head by "farting" Jason: Try not to work too hard Veg: Don't trip, enjoy Veg Land for as long as it lasts. It's also hard to believe that high school is finally coming to an end. However, my three years at WIC are up, and we all have the future waiting for us. I send my love and thanks to my friends and family who have supported me, loved me, encouraged me, and made me laugh throughout high school. Also, thank you to all the teachers at WIC who have helped me learn so much. Good luck all graduates. In the words of Jonathan Swift, "may you live all the days of your life".

First of all, I would like to thank all of my teachers, especially Ms. Snowden and Mr. Salberg for all their hard work and dedication. I really appreciate all that you guys do. To the Floaties and the Northwesters, you guys rock. To the rest of the grade, you guys are the best. A few words to the wise: 1. Never be the school mascot. 2. Bathrooms ARE NOT the place for "extracurricular activities" 3. Always do sober what you said you'd do when you were drunk. That will teach you to keep your mouth shut. 4. The first thing at WIC was, I learned to forgive myself. Then, I told myself, "Go ahead and do whatever you want, it's okay by me." Even though I just spent two years with all of you, I feel like I have spent all six. From Physics to the bad corner in English, good memories all around. 5 am messages, Absynthe, Ichiban, Road Signs, BBC. HOUSEBOATING! Always give'er hard with no regrets. Thanks to my parents, the teachers and everyone else I've met at WIC. We are the gentlemen of WIC. Have a good year!

Six long years. It's still hard to believe that it's all over now. I suppose we'll all be moving on to bigger and better things from here. Most of the grade 12's anyways. First I would like to thank Mr. Grant for letting me into the school many years ago; What were you thinking?! To Mr. Forester thanks for putting up with me, and Mr. Grants decision all these years, but what I don't get is why I'm not a prefect! Never mind, don't answer that. To Mrs. McGee, thank you for yelling at me and hating me in Grades 8 and 10. Thank you for not yelling and hating me in Grade 12, greatly appreciated. (We'll just call it character building!) Ms. Snowden: look what you've done to me! Thanks for putting your rep away and taking a chance on me; it all turned out for the best! To the boys of D.S. find my Niers! To Ecuador: never forget the boat! And I can sing! Special thanks to L.B. I won't leave you yet! Good luck to everyone, and remember it's almost over.

Life begins today. Today we graduate and are finally given the freedom to do what ever the hell makes us smile. No more answering to others or obeying rules that dont make sense, you've been doing that for 18 years and now its time to make some of your own. They say these are the best days of our lives, but I sure as hell hope not. I've done many stupid things and many even stupider things with alot of you and those are the good times I will remeber forever and so should you, Its all about the good times.

It is impossible to even remotely attempt to sum up the last six years of my time at W.I.C. Overall, it's been the best time of my life! As we close one chapter in our lives and open another, there's a world of opportunities sitting at our doorstep. "What we call the beginning is often the end. And to make an end is to make a beginning. The end is where we start from." T.S. Eliot. I just can't believe it's over. I'd like to thank all my teachers for coaching me through academics and sports; your ongoing support has had an enormous impact on my life, thanks for believing in me. We have an awesome class and I had a great time with all of you. I know that these friendships won't fade away, without these friendships; I don't know where I'd be! Well, just as I thought it was coming to an end I have realized that it has come to a beginning. My four years at WIC really whipped me into shape and I am now ready to take on the world. I must thank all of my teachers for their constant encouragement and support. My fam - I love you. My friends, I'll never forget the good times we had in our last year - especially when I acquired the new nickname of model UN. Cheers to all the partying and just givin'er in our grade 12 year. Honestly, this year was so much fun, WIC is great. If you're skeptical, wait till grade 12, any graduate will tell you how they loved it. There have been too many times, jokes and people to single out, and that's why we're so close. We'll always pull through in the clutch. (giv'er) You guys are always going to be remembered. Thank you to my teachers for your care, caring more than I did at times! You've impacted me, and I am forever indebted. "Electricity is actually made up of extremely tiny particles called electrons, that you cannot see with the naked eye unless you have been drinking." -Dave Barry. I'm going to miss you guys, I luv you! I've said this once and I'll say it again, "There are hundreds of languages in the world, but a smile speaks them all." Cheerio

Well, here I stand, on the verge of something great, about to embark on the glorious journey towards adulthood. I really have enjoyed my 6 years at WIC. A lot of people try to take pity on me because I go to WIC, but I loved it. The people, the closeness, wearing a suit to school ... does it get much better? I guess I just picked the right parents or something. Everyone here has contributed to my enjoyment of the last few years, so there's no sense to start using initials to give props, you all get 'em'. Except you Emma, where would I be without you? WIC can seem like a pretty tough place at times, but there are a few simple phrases one should remember in order to make life here much more simple. This advice should help you along the way, just be careful not to abuse it;

- 1) It was like that when I got here.
 - 2) The foreign exchange kid did it.
 - 3) It seemed like a good idea at the time.
- "What can I say, I saved the day I guess?" Adam Sandler - Billy Madison

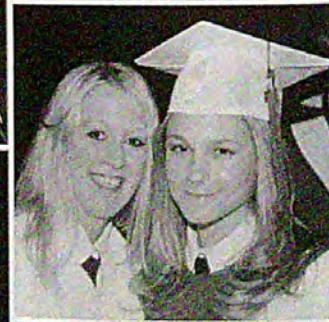

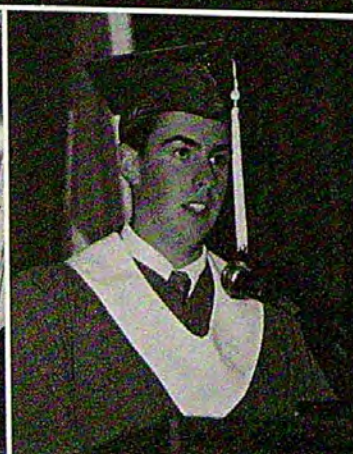

Grad, a three day endeavour, was a huge success. From the ceremony to the Sunday morning after, we all had a great time.

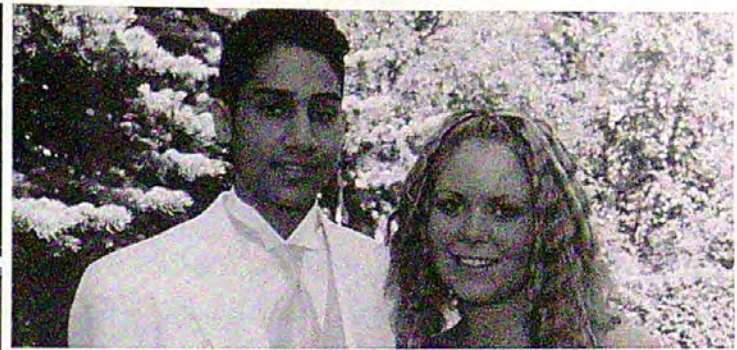

We would like to thank, the Hobson family for hosting a wonderful Cocktail party, as well as the Burts for allowing the use of their beautiful home for aftergrad 2003. A special thanks goes to Tina and the Grad Committee for all their hard work in organizing our graduation. Congratulations and good luck to the graduating class of 2003!

Congratulations to all the graduates!

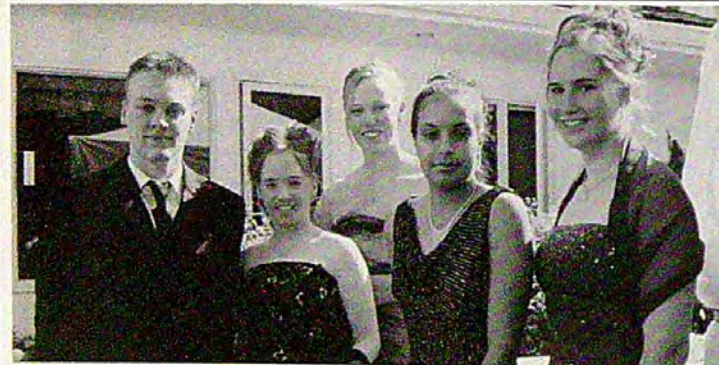

Good luck in the future!

Congratulations to all of the grads!

Good luck in the future!
